

Join the ANU-UPNG team as an Associate Lecturer

By Ashlee Betteridge
8 April 2016

Crawford School alumnus Peter Telapi with ANU Associate Lecturer at UPNG, Tatia Currie, at the recent UPNG School of Business and Public Policy Graduation Ceremony.

Do you have a strong Honours or Masters degree in economics or public policy? Would you make a good lecturer and researcher?

We're recruiting again for our partnership with the University of Papua New Guinea School of Business and Public Policy, and this time we're looking for Associate Lecturers for a mid-year start. You will be employed by ANU, but living in Port Moresby, and working at UPNG. The work will involve undergraduate lecturing, researching and outreach, and you will be part of a dynamic and enthusiastic team.

More details on the role and application instructions are available here. For any additional details or queries, contact our Partnership Manager Michael Cookson

(michael.cookson@anu.edu.au). Applications close on 1 May.

About the author/s

Ashlee Betteridge

Ashlee Betteridge was the Manager of the Development Policy Centre until April 2021. She was previously a Research Officer at the centre from 2013-2017. A former journalist, she holds a Master of Public Policy (Development Policy) from ANU and has development experience in Indonesia and Timor-Leste. She now has her own consultancy, Better Things Consulting, and works across several large projects with managing contractors.

Link: <https://devpolicy.org/join-anu-upng-team-associate-lecturer-20160408/>

Date downloaded: 24 April 2024

Australian
National University

The Devpolicy Blog is based at the Development Policy Centre, Crawford School of Public Policy, College of Asia and the Pacific, Australian National University.